RWBY: Green Flower

Howdy, this is something I was planning to do for a long time. It retells the events of Season 3 in an alternate universe, with 4 new characters added in. The story mainly focuses on Ruby and an OC you'll see in this chapter. I've tried my best to make my 4 OCs as good and non-mary-sue-ish as I can. Please enjoy.

>The beautiful Sunlight rested on Ruby Rose's shoulders, she was talking to her mother's grave, again. Her father, Taiyang, was standing behind her, but not paying attention to what she was saying, as the pain of losing his wife, was too much already, he'd only just got over it, and at this point, it happened 10 years ago.

Ruby noticed her father standing behind her, "Ruby, ready to go to the fairgrounds?" Taiyang softly asked.

"Yep," Ruby eagerly replied.

"Hm, everything's great at Beacon, right, Ruby?"

"Yes, Dad. Like I've said to you when I've called you, which was every day I could. I love Beacon!"

"Good, Ruby. Sometimes you remind me of Su—" Taiyang didn't finish as the mere mention of Summer's name made Ruby upset. "Eh, nevermind... You know Ruby, sometimes I worry a lot about you."

"What about Yang?" Ruby curiously asked.

"If she's anything like her mother, which she is, she'll be fine."

"What happened to Raven anyway?"

"Huh? You know her name! How!"

"Yang told me. What happened to her?"

"We... I don't really know. Uncle Qrow won't tell me." Taiyang responded with tears in his eyes. "Yang's waiting, we better go."

Ruby realized it wasn't a good idea to bring up subjects to do with Raven.

>As they arrived at the fairgrounds, they were met by Blake and Weiss, "Ya see Dad, these are me and Ruby's teammates, Blake Belladonna and Weiss Schnee." Yang announced.

"A Schnee huh? Well, aren't you lucky." Taiyang said sarcastically. Although Weiss didn't notice.

"Yeah, we're real lucky," Yang whispered into her Dad's ear.

"Well, girls. I have a mission to go on. Love you both," Taiyang pulled both Ruby and Yang in for a loving hug, of course, they granted it.

"Bye, girls!" Taiyang said, starting to walk away.

"Bye, Dad!" Both Ruby and Yang shouted in unison while waving at their father.

"I REALLY hope one of them doesn't get a boyfriend, especially after what happened with Yang." Taiyang thought to himself.

>It was a few hours before anything started, so Team RWBY were walking around the fairground, but not buying food.

"I could really use some food right about now," Blake said.

"You can't. Not when our fight is in 2 hours." Weiss snapped back.

"Help! I don't have my weapon!" A male voice shouted. Team RWBY ran over to see a teenage boy dressed in a gray shirt and navy blue pants fighting a Grimm, he seemed to be shooting some sort of crystal out of his hands.

"I'll handle this!" Ruby shouted with confidence. She aimed with her Sniper and shot 3 times, killing the creature. Ruby ran over to the boy, allowing her to see him better.

He had thick black hair, wasn't tall but wasn't short either and had green eyes. He was on his back due to the Grimm, Ruby offered her hand out, he gladly took it and was helped up.

"Thanks for helping me. This why I should have brought my damn weapon. Anyway, the name's Rin, Rin Vert." The boy said.

"No problem. My name is Ruby Rose. Nice to meet you!"
